One of my favorite parts of spring is breaking out the flip flops and sandals. I don't have much time for a pedicure these days but I still need to take care of my tootsies if I want to look good from head to toe. Thankfully, I can count on Kerasal to lend me a hand. Err, foot.

Once only available from podiatrists, Kerasal foot care products are now available over-the-counter. Unlike ordinary foot creams, Kerasal's richly concentrated ointments are clinically proven to repair calluses and soften even the toughest, driest feet in just a few days.

For as far back as I can remember, I've been plagued with dry, cracked heels. I try to buff and file them regularly after I shower but I don't always have the time. And even then, the results are only temporary. So, I was delighted to have the chance to review Kerasal's One Step Exfoliating Foot Moisturizer Therapy. This dual-action formula exfoliates and moisturizes in one step. Before bed, simply wash and dry your feet, massage in the cream until absorbed and cover with some cotton socks. That's it! Wake up to soft, sexy heels!

Let me tell you...Kerasal did not disappoint. I loved that the cream was clear so it didn't make a huge mess and the application was incredibly easy. I am battling allergies so my nose has been a bit stuffy but I didn't notice a medicinal odor at all. The results were astounding:

After 2 days

I think the pictures speak for themselves. This stuff really works! I no longer have to feel self-conscious about the condition of my feet when I slip on my shoes. And while it's an extra step in my nighttime routine, it's well worth the two minutes. My heels look as smooth as a baby's bottom and I've only used it for a few days.

Bottom line: If you want to put your best foot forward, you'll want some Kerasal in your arsenal.
